KOLCHAK'S ARMY IS SAFE AT OMSK

Russian Admiral Stages One of Greatest "Comebacks"
Since War Began.

Admiral Kolchak, anti-Bolshevik leader in Siberia, apparently has staged one of the greatest military "comebacks" since the beginning of the war.

A few weeks ago Kolchak's defeat by red armies and the fall of Omsk, the capital of his government, was conceded in diplomatic circles here and abroad. Today his army, reorganized at Omsk, is, according to official reports, out of danger. Kolchak is regarded as safe at least until next spring, when help in the form of much-needed munitions from the United States will have reached him.

Military experts here never conceded Kolchak's defeat. They argued that Kolchak had committed a natural military error when he extended his lines too far in chasing Bolsheviks. It was said that, by the defeat that caused diplomatic circles to give up hope, he would be forced to retreat until his army again was on a front sufficiently small to permit unity of action but large enough to protect Omsk. Recent reports, both to the army and to the State Department, have confirmed this view.

Little activity is expected on Kolchak's front—along a river west and south of Omsk—until spring, because of the early winter in Siberia and the impossibility of fighting in the bitter Siberian cold. By next spring Kolchak will have received thousands of rifles manufactured in this country now on their way to him.

ONE JUDGE IS DEAD, ANOTHER STRICKEN

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 25.—Howard Clark Hollister, sixty-three years of age, United States district judge for the Southern district, died suddenly at his home here while sitting in an armchair.

He was a native of Cincinnati, and received his appointment from former President William H. Taft, and was a Yale classmate of the former President. Heart trouble was the cause of his death.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 25.—Judge Ben A. Pardee, of the Fifth judicial circuit, United States court, was stricken with acute indigestion in his office in the Federal building here yesterday and at the time fear was expressed that he would not survive. At his home today it was said his condition was unchanged. Judge Pardee is eighty-two years old.

DENY ATTEMPT TO PROSELYTE JEWS

Episcopal Fund to Be Used in Americanizing All, Say Bishops.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—Bishop Thomas J. Garland and the Rev. John I. Zacker, of the Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania, today answered statements of New York Jews that the Episcopal Church sought to Christianize Jews in this country.

The statements were made at a meeting of prominent Jews in New York as a protest to a published statement that a $1,000,000 fund of the Episcopal Church was to be used in part to "Americanize Jews."

Bishop Garland said the facts had been misconstrued. "The Episcopal Church," he said, "does not make any distinction in its program for the Christianization and Americanization of immigrants. We include in that program all foreigners."

Dr. Zacker, Episcopal missionary to the Jews, said the controversy is due to misquoting of speakers at the recent conference of Christian workers in New York.

CANTON STRIKERS VOTE TO RETURN

CANTON, Ohio, Sept. 25.—Twelve hundred men employed by the Canton Steel Company are reported by officials of the plant to have voted in favor of returning to work Sunday.

LAUDS PUBLIC SCHOOLS.
LONDON, Sept. 25.—"If I had to begin life again as a boy, I would send myself to a public school, and go through it all again," declared Viscount Grey, famous ex-foreign secretary, to school boys.

"HAHN" Shoe-Values ALWAYS WERE the Greatest---But

There Never Was a Time When "HAHN" Shoe-Values Were So Pre-Eminent As They Are Today!

Thousands of Washingtonians have noted, with pleasurable satisfaction, the remarkably-low-ER prices at which Stylish "HAHN" Footwear is being offered this season. In the face of all this talk about shoe-prices, it is a fact that "HAHN'S" ARE selling shoes at a closer margin of profit than 'most any shoe house in America today.

When You Come to Think of It This MUST Be So, Because---

The "HAHN" business is a large one. It depends on Volume for its success—not long profits. And the only way to meet rapidly-advancing selling-costs is to work constantly for a still bigger and an ever-growing volume of sales.

And This Can Be Done Only by Making
Everybody in Washington Realize That Here They Can Purchase Exactly What They Want---For Less Money!

Exemplifying the remarkable "HAHN" values—we direct attention to our wonderful new line of Women's Fall Footwear at $8.50. See Special Announcement on page 5.
